MEDIA RELEASE

OCTOBER 2009

Updated ASHM Resource HIV Management: a guide for clinical care

The Australasian Society for HIV Medicine has updated the HIV Management: a guide for clinical care monograph. This clinical resource has been extensively reviewed and updated to incorporate the latest advances and research in the management of HIV. It is an invaluable reference handbook for HIV S100 Community Prescribers and clinicians. The resource aims to improve the care and wellbeing of people with HIV infection in Australasia. Further, the monograph is a key text used by many medical institutions, health departments and universities for HIV (and viral hepatitis) related education programs in Australia and New Zealand.

The 2009 edition is divided into the following three sections: Mechanisms, phases and diagnostic; Therapeutics and monitoring; and Clinical manifestations of HIV Disease. The 2009 update has been overseen by an Australian HIV expert steering committee, and has been produced with assistance from The Australian Government Department of Health and Ageing. It is now available to order in hardcopy and online via the ASHM website.

To order your free copy or for further information, please visit the ASHM website <http://www.ashm.org.au/HIVManagement> or alternatively contact the ASHM office
